

The past April 26 and 27 were held in Malaga the Jornadas Técnicas de Archivos en la Administración local (archives in local governments). ISO 30300 was named on many occasions throughout the day. The theme of the Jornada was the implementation of ISO 30300 in the local administration.

to: Governance and records management management. The City Council invited me to give the first conference on ISO 30300 as an instrument of transparency and good governance. The history of the City of Malaga, with a long tradition in its commitment to the implementation of quality systems, with new proposals and their viability in the local administration was evident with the
